BY THE COMMISSION:

By Complaint filed April 15, 2002, A.B.I Universal Messaging Center (Complainant) alleged that Qwest Corporation's (Qwest or Defendant) automated recordings were interfering with the Complainant's answering services.

By Answer filed May 3, 2003, Qwest indicated that it had contacted the Complainant and made adjustments to the Complainant's telephone services; namely, had added a terminating and originating block for a feature known as "I Called" and removed a call forward busy line feature from one of Complainant's accounts.

Upon receipt of Qwest's answer, Commission staff contacted Complainant to determine if a hearing was required. The Complainant did not wish to set a hearing, but requested that the complaint remain open in order to address any further issues related to the original complaint.
